DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 3, 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 3, line 8, "a plurality/rigid supports" is vague and ambiguous.

In claim 5, lines 1-2, there is no antecedent basis for "the treadmill adjustment means"

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3, 6, 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Crandell.

Crandell discloses a single seamless plastic enclosure having two ends and bottom there between (fig. 1), an open top ... allow a swimmer to swim in place (fig. 1), steps (25), a shaft receiving hole near the bottom of the enclosure (fig. 3), control buttons (fig. 5), a treadmill having a frame and treadmill belt (fig. 3), said shaft extending from the treadmill to exit the wall of the enclosure through the shaft hole ... motor means (fig. 3), sealing means to seal the shaft exit hole about the shaft (fig. 3), swim jets at the front end of the enclosure having means for providing sufficiently powerful water flow ... swimming in place (col. 4, lines 1-3), a treadmill receiving cavity at the bottom having a depth ... a safety step off area (fig. 3).

Crandell further discloses impact reducing means (the water in Crandell's tank acts as an impact reducing means), a continuous loop treadmill belt (30), treadmill having two sides (fig. 3), a plurality of upper cross-members (fig. 3), a treadmill bed for supporting the belt (fig. 3), plurality of rigid supports (fig. 3), a plurality of individual energy supports (fig. 3), a cover plate ... for access to the treadmill shaft (fig. 3).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Crandell in view of Sampson et al.

Crandell does not disclose a treadmill belt adjustment means.

Sampson et al disclose a treadmill belt adjustment means (62).

It would have been obvious to use Sampson et al's a treadmill belt adjustment means with Crandell, as it is well known to use a treadmill belt adjustment means in a submerged treadmill, as taught by Sampson et al, for providing a means to keep the belt at the proper tension.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 5 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Brazelton discloses an enclosed exercise facility having jets for allowing swimming in place.

Hopkins discloses an aquatic treadmill
